EXPERIENCE THE NORTHERN LIGHTS ON BOARD HURTIGRUTEN

Pole Position

Hurtigruten sails directly beneath the Auroral Zone, an area of continuous and consistent aurora activity around the North Pole. Travelling at sea under the Auroral Zone means that displays can appear right above the ship. Outdoor observation decks provide a clear view of the sky, avoiding the artificial ambient light that is common on land.

Prime Time

It is in the frosty winter months when the Northern Lights are most visible, laying claim to the night sky. The Northern Lights will usually appear at multiple times and at multiple locations during your voyage. On board announcements ensure you don't miss a single sighting.

THE REVIEWS ARE IN...

“ This was our first cruise and seeing the beautiful Norwegian coastline for eleven days was wonderful. The ship, M.S. Richard, was extremely comfortable and the staff professional and friendly. The food and service was excellent and we also enjoyed the daily briefings. We were fortunate to see the Northern Lights on two evenings! A great trip and a terrific experience. ”

Mr & Mrs Clement Jones - January 2024

“ This cruise with Hurtigruten was a special birthday treat for my daughter. We both have the Northern Lights on our bucket lists so when this offer became available it was a forgone conclusion. Having previously done ocean and river cruises I think I would say that this is the best of both. We had a splendid time and made plenty of unforgettable memories including seeing the Northern lights. ”

30 Years of ROL CRUISE

The Story So Far...

1995 – 2025

ROL Cruise was founded in 1995 as Reader Offers Ltd with a small team of four. Today, with over 140 employees, Reader Offers has rebranded as ROL Cruise, the UK's No.1 Independent Cruise Specialist, and works closely with all major cruise lines.

1995

The very beginning of Reader Offers Ltd

Reader Offers Ltd started life in Colchester as a general travel agent selling a range of land-based holidays. A team of four sold mainly through regional newspapers, hence the name Reader Offers Ltd.

Following rapid growth, Reader Offers Ltd quickly outgrew the office on East Hill, Colchester and exchanged contracts for Lexden House, Colchester.

A Journey of Reflections from ROL Cruise Founder Peter Beadles

PETER BEADLES, FOUNDER

In 1993, I found myself navigating an unexpected route into the travel industry. At the time, I was running a business that provided holiday competitions to both local and national newspapers and magazines. A pivotal meeting with a major supermarket magazine set the course for my future. Their sole interest lay in offering a cruise as a prize. The only cruise ship I was familiar with was QE2, so I reached out to Cunard with a proposal – offering a transatlantic crossing in exchange for a double-page spread. The results were phenomenal, leading to several successful promotions. Eventually, Cunard made an intriguing suggestion: Why not sell their cruises as a travel agent? Thus, Reader Offers Ltd. was born, a name surprisingly available when I registered it with Companies House.

The early years were fraught with challenges, particularly in sourcing the right staff and the best media platforms for promotion. Our advertising agency, Conrads, urged me – despite my scepticism – to invest in full-page advertisements in the national press. They were right. One memorable misstep, however, came in the form of an unfortunate typo. A double-page spread in the Civil Service Motoring Magazine proudly advertised as a ‘Christmas Cruise Sale’ – except, in my rush, I had omitted the ‘S’ in Christmas. While this caused quite a stir, I was eventually forgiven.

Our very first cruise booking was a transatlantic voyage to New York aboard the QE2, with a business-class return flight on British Airways. From that moment, the business continued to expand, and my personal involvement in the industry deepened. One of my fondest memories is visiting Saint-Nazaire during the construction of Queen Mary 2. The sheer scale of the project was breathtaking. On one visit, a red London double-decker bus was parked under the stern of the ship, a striking visual that emphasised her vast size. Inside, a labyrinth of cables, pipes and metalwork stretched as far as the eye could see – an overwhelming sight that underscored the complexity of building such a grand vessel.

The cruise industry has evolved tremendously over the past three decades. Where once options were limited, today, there are countless choices, from vast ocean liners to intimate river cruises, ensuring there is something for everyone. Despite some misconceptions, many who believe cruising isn’t for them are often converted after their first voyage. Our job has always been to find the right cruise for each individual, and more often than not, they return for another trip.

Key business decisions have shaped Reader Offers Ltd. in many ways. One of my best decisions was hiring Jeremy Dickinson. Previously of USAirtours, Jeremy joined as Head of Business Development, Jeremy’s arrival marked a turning point for the business. His vision and leadership led to the creation of Cruise Miles®, a concept that played a pivotal role in driving growth. When I retired Jeremy alongside the senior staff continued to drive the business forward with dedication and vision.

Looking to the future, I hope ROL Cruise, now an employee-owned business, will continue to expand and innovate, bringing new ideas to benefit its shareholders – its employees. The new senior management team now bears the responsibility of guiding the company forward, delivering exceptional service to customers while fostering a supportive environment for staff. I have every confidence that they will steer the company towards continued growth and prosperity.

As I reflect on this journey, I feel immense gratitude for the opportunities, challenges and successes that have defined my career. It has been an incredible voyage, and I wish the entire team smooth sailing ahead.

It is particularly gratifying to see our longstanding relationship with Cunard continue to thrive. From that very first promotion to today, we have remained a trusted partner, and our dedication has not gone unnoticed. Most recently, ROL Cruise was honoured with the Outstanding Contribution for Cunard award at the Carnival UK Cruise Awards – an incredible recognition of our 30-year commitment to excellence in the cruise industry. This accolade reinforces our enduring partnership with Cunard and our continued passion for providing outstanding cruise experiences for our clients.

Three Decades

20 Years of Growth and Leadership at ROL Cruise

JEREMY DICKINSON, FORMER CHAIRMAN

Since joining ROL Cruise as Head of Business Development in 2005, I have been incredibly proud to drive the company forward. Over the years, we have cultivated invaluable partnerships with leading cruise lines, developed exclusive tailor-made packages designed with our customers in mind, and assembled a team with over 1,000 years of combined travel industry experience. Seeing the growth of the company, our dedicated staff, and our commitment to bringing the best cruise experiences to our clients has been an immensely rewarding journey for me.

When Peter announced his retirement in 2014, I was honoured to take the reins as CEO, marking the beginning of a new chapter. As we celebrated our 20th anniversary the following year, we embraced the next phase of our journey, rebranding as ROL Cruise. In 2018, I stepped into the role of Chairman, appointing joint Managing Directors – a strategic decision that further strengthened our leadership team.

One of the most significant transitions in our history has been our recent move to an Employee Ownership Trust, ensuring that ROL Cruise remains in the hands of those who truly drive its success – our passionate and dedicated employees. In November 2024, selling the business to the employees made perfect sense to me. I remain available to lend my support if needed, but I have full confidence in the exceptional quality and expertise of our Board.

My proudest achievements

Reflecting on my time at ROL Cruise, I am particularly proud of a few key milestones. Introducing Cruise Miles®, our exclusive customer loyalty program, was a defining moment in our journey, giving our valued clients an innovative way to save on their cruise experiences.

Guiding the business through the global pandemic was another significant challenge, especially during a time when no cruises were departing. The resilience, determination, and teamwork displayed by our staff during that period were truly remarkable. Despite the uncertainty, we remained committed to our customers, supporting them throughout.

And recover we did. The cruise industry has seen a powerful resurgence, with passenger numbers and demand reaching new heights. As a company, we've adapted and thrived, continuing to innovate and provide the very best.

Beyond commercial success, I am most proud of the culture we have built at ROL Cruise. Over my 20 years with the company, 15 of which I spent at the helm and 10 as overall owner, I have seen key individuals start from the bottom and rise to the top. The supportive and progressive environment we have nurtured has been instrumental in our success, ensuring that ROL remains a truly special place.

As I reflect, I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to every staff member, past and present, for their contributions to our journey. Building this business has been an incredible experience, and I am confident that ROL Cruise, led superbly by Rosie, will go in only one direction, and that is emphatically up, up, up!

Three Decades of Collaboration:

As we commemorate 30 years of ROL Cruise, we are proud to share heartfelt messages from our cruise line partners. Their unwavering support and collaboration have played a significant role in our journey, and we are grateful for the strong, lasting relationships we've built over the years.

30 Years of CRUISING

Setting sail with Jennie Bond

First and foremost, huge congratulations to ROL Cruise on 30 glorious years of making dreams come true! In my humble opinion, they are far and away the most experienced and skilled cruise specialists in the UK.

"Here's to the next 30 years!"

And it must be nearly 30 years since I set sail on the high seas for my first taste of cruising. Back then, I imagined it would be a one-off: a quick look at life on board Cunard's QE11. But my little family – husband Jim and daughter Emma – were almost instantly bitten by the bug. We simply loved it.

Since then, we have seen so much of the world from on board all manner of ships. The possibilities now seem endless. There is an extraordinary choice of cruise lines, destinations, activities and experiences – both on board and ashore.

When I think about the world of cruising these days, it reminds me of the magic of gazing into a kaleidoscope when I was a child. The colours and patterns change with every twist of the scope; the combinations appear infinite and each one has its own beauty.

30 years ago, I thought it was mind-boggling to see a ballroom on board and even a small swimming pool. Today, you can go surfing, try ice skating, ride the dodgems, climb a massive wall or shop 'till you drop. And that's really just for starters.

"When I think about the world of cruising these days, it reminds me of the magic of gazing into a kaleidoscope"

As we've grown older, our preferred option is to enjoy the quiet spaces on board, the fine dining and even finer wine, the wonderful range of excursions and, of course, the utter pampering of being looked after day and night.

And these days, the standard of theatre entertainment is outstanding. The stages have become state of the art, and the acts ever more daring – jaw-dropping high trapezes and breathtaking acrobatics. But with one turn of the kaleidoscope, you will also find high-quality lectures and detailed guides to your next port of call.

And, of course, it's the destinations that make a cruise so very rewarding. I still marvel at being able to visit four or five countries in a single week. And all I had to do was unpack once and then be waited on hand and foot!

Look into that kaleidoscope: is that Australia I see before me? Or the dazzling colours of the Caribbean? Another twist and the crystals turn brilliantly white as Antarctica comes into view. And now, there's just the narrowest corridor through the pattern: it must be the Panama Canal.

All of these fantastic places have come to visit Jim and me as we've sailed around the world, loving every minute and making many a friend along the way.

If you're reading this Blue Horizon's edition, the chances are I'm preaching to the converted. So I'm sure you'll agree that we really are the lucky ones: we've cracked the code to some of the best holidays you could ever wish to enjoy. And, with every year, that kaleidoscope comes up with new patterns and fresh adventures.

So, well done, ROL Cruise. Here's to the next 30 years!

Highlights

ICONIC SYDNEY

The idyllic lifestyle, friendly locals and drop-dead natural beauty of this approachable metropolis and its attractions explain why the country tops so many travellers' wish lists. But Sydney is more than just the embodiment of classic antipodean cool – the city is in a constant state of evolution. The famed harbour is among the top sights – home to twin icons the Sydney Opera House and the Sydney Harbour Bridge, it is the stepping-off point for some of the city's best cultural attractions and sightseeing. In one day you can sail around the harbour, get a behind-the-scenes tour of the opera house and climb the bridge, with time to spare for people-watching over a flat white at a waterfront café.

STYLISH SEATTLE

Seattle may be famous for its rainy weather, but the West Coast's 'Emerald City' also boasts green parks, delicious coffee, and colourful neighbourhoods filled with music, artists, and farmers' markets. Whether you're admiring the city skyline from the Space Needle or exploring the wilderness of Mount Rainier, Washington State's tallest mountain, Seattle is the perfect place to mix urban life with the natural world. Seattle's fun and unconventional side spills over in Fremont, where plenty of creative residents have named the neighbourhood 'The Centre of the Known Universe.'

Jane Archer is one of the UK's leading cruise journalists and cruise expert for the Daily Telegraph. She has been sharing her experiences with Blue Horizons' readers for the past 18 years.

A TRIP DOWN Memory Ln

Did you know that when it launched in 1998, Grand Princess, at 109,000 GRT, was the world's largest cruise ship. Today that title is held by Royal Caribbean International's Icon of the Seas, which is a stonking 248,663 gross tonnage and holds up to 7,600 passengers.

Grand Princess made its, er, grand entrance at the same time I started writing about cruising so I can't quite claim the longevity of ROL, celebrating an amazing 30th anniversary this year, but I'm not far behind.

How things have changed in that time. Yes, ships have got bigger, but also river and expedition cruising have taken off, a whole new class of ultra-luxury ships has emerged, cruise language has changed (anyone else notice that the main dining room has morphed into the main restaurant?) and the number of Brits going on ocean cruises has rocketed. There were just under 400,000 in 1995, the year ROL launched, according to the then Passenger Shipping Association. In 2023, that had grown to 2.28 million.

On board, everything from dining to the way we pay gratuities has changed. Remember having to put cash into envelopes to hand to your cabin stewards, waiters and the maitre d' of the main dining room where you were seated?

That, and the dining arrangements, was one of many things that surprised (actually shocked) me when I started cruising. I'd never been on a holiday where you were told when and where to dine, let alone being seated with strangers who were going to be your new best friends for the week, fortnight, or however long you were on board.

Sometimes it worked out; other times ... well let's just say I was very pleased when, along with strict formal nights and captain's tables (oh my goodness, they could be hard work sometimes but people loved them because you got free booze!), most cruise lines consigned set seating to Room 101.

A few cruise lines still keep it, partly because their passengers like it but I suspect also because it is easier for the staff if they know when everyone is coming to eat. But even they haven't been able to resist putting speciality restaurants on their ships.

Ah yes, the speciality restaurant. Who else remembers when they came in? I was with a group of journalists when the first cruise line announced it was going to put a restaurant on its ships and charge for it. It was going to be something paltry like $10 per person, the idea being that it covered your waiters' gratuity. It'll never work, we all chorused. People won't pay to eat when they have already paid for the food in the main dining room.

Given many ships these days have three or four speciality restaurants (Icon has eight) and the cost is anything from $30 per person to $140 or more, you'll be pleased to hear I have since thrown out that crystal ball!

Adding all those restaurants has of course only been possible because ships got bigger. The extra space has also enabled cruise lines to offer exclusive enclaves with private sundecks, pools and lounges for suite guests and add things we would never have imagined possible 30 years ago – water parks, ice rinks, even roller coasters – that's if we had even thought of them at all.

THE STRANGE THINGS I'VE DONE ON A CRUISE SHIP

When I started cruising I never thought that one day I would be racing around a go-kart track while sailing the high seas or drinking vodka in an ice bar, but I have. I've also tried my hand at surfing and archery, managed to break out of an escape room (more difficult than I expected) and harnessed up and made my way around a ropes course.

I've even been zip-wiring across the Boardwalk on a Royal Caribbean ship and kitted up like a Michelin man to go sky-diving. It was all going so well until the trainer decided to fly me to the top of the chamber. Luckily for him, it was too noisy to hear my screams!
